

Patronize The Concord Nurseries.

To my friends and patrons throughout Edgefield and Saluda counties:

I beg to say, I fear I will not be able to visit the home of every landowner in the interest of the well known, and justly popular Concord Nurseries of Georgia, but any one wishing to inspect our line of fruit or ornamental trees, can notify me through the mail, and I will call on them with pleasure.

I would call special attention to the ever-bearing mulberry, which begins to drop its fruit early in spring and continues through the summer, being very valuable for hogs and poultry. One tree is worth a barrel of corn every year. It is also valuable as a shade and ornamental tree, and will bear the second year. One of my customers says he has one that he would not take twenty-five dollars for.

Drop me a card at Edgefield, when in need of any kind of trees or flowers.

Merchant Who Won't Advertise Doesn't Deserve Support Says a Farmer.

In an audience composed mostly of the members of the Farmers' Union one of the speakers recently expressed the mutual friendship between the farm and newspaper in the following:

"As a rule the farmer has no firmer friend than the country press. The home paper is distinctly the farmer's own paper, supported directly and indirectly by farmers, who compose the backbone of the subscription list of the printer and largely for what the enterprising merchant advertises. Now, brother, let us not forget our friend. Let us see that our subscription is paid a year in advance. We can do it."

"The man or the paper that fights my battles shall have my support. Another thing, the merchants advertising are the ones that make it possible for us to get a good local paper. The man or local firm that is too penurious to advertise and help support the local press has no right to the farmers' patronage."

"I promise hereafter to go to the live advertiser and the man who does his share in supporting the local press, thus contributing to my support, rather than buy of a man who proposes to take all and give nothing back. If farmers as a class would support their friends, the other fellow would soon go out of business."—Florence, Ala., Times.
